1. Normal Arrangements

We meet every Tuesday throughout the year at 8.30pm in the Craigiebiel Hotel, Bog Road, Penicuik.

<http://www.streetmap.co.uk/newmap.srf?x=323251&y=660098&z=0&sv=EH26+9BZ&st=2&pc=EH26+9BZ&mapp=newmap.srf&searchp=newsearch.srf>

Once/month (normally the second Tuesday of the month) we have a concert night – all other Tuesdays are free singing/playing sessions. We can use other Tuesdays, slightly reluctantly, and other days of the week, very reluctantly. We do not run concerts in July and August, although sessions continue unabated through the long hot(?) summer.

We book folk musicians and encourage the playing and singing of folk music – but we interpret folk very liberally. Many of our guests and regular sessioneers veer into country and western, blues, acoustic rock/pop. We work on the premise that any song has the potential to become a folk song – it just has to be good enough to last long enough to become part of the singing tradition.

Concerts begin at 8.30pm (generally advertised optimistically as 8.15pm) and end at 11.00pm – normally two 45-minute spots supported by a short opening act in both halves of the evening. We comper the evening concisely and sensitively. We have skilled club performers and occasionally an invited opening act ... generally local musicians gaining experience or trying to persuade us to book him/her/them. For the most part, we do the support-act duties ourselves.

2. Ticket prices and fees

Ticket prices are normally £6-£8 (£5-£6 concessions) but can be varied outside this range for higher-fee guests. We normally work on the basis of what we gauge to be an achievable guaranteed fee against a generous percentage of the door takings. We are not a profit-making body. We simply aim to stay viable while putting as much money as is feasible into the pockets of our guest artistes. We have managed to break even (losing some, winning some) over some 25 years – long may that continue.

3. Merchandise

We are happy to promote the sales of CDs etc. via on-stage announcements and encouragement to buy and we will offer to undertake the selling of guests' merchandise for no fee (although a donation for the raffle is always welcome!). We do not normally accept other stalls selling jewellery, etc.

4. Bookings and contracts

Bookings are negotiated by Alan Murray (alan@amroth350.wanadoo.co.uk), and contracts dealt with by Ken Davies (Caplawdavies@aol.com).

We ask that all booked artistes avoid playing in the Edinburgh area within 2 months before or after a Penicuik Folk Club gig.

We cannot enforce this, but breaking the rule rarely benefits either club or guest artiste. A quiet night is dispiriting and potentially financially damaging for you and for the club.

We are happy to receive demos to Alan Murray (350, Rullion Road, Penicuik, EH26 9AD). Before posting that demo CD, however, it is worth noting that most of our bookings are the result of our own listening experiences, those of club members and those of fellow folk club organisers.

We are generally unable to meet exotic food-and-drink requests in contracts (“a bottle of red wine and a crate of beer for each band member ...” - that sort of thing). One high-profile band member famously asks for a Shepherd's Pie to be available – but as we have no plans to book the Rolling Stones, that will not present us with a problem. Although such requests often appear automatically in agency contracts, most perfumers understand that they are not appropriate to a non-profit-making folk club.

Apologies for the rather firm note of this section – but it's best to get such things cleared up as soon as possible. Disagreements with guests are almost unheard-of and the few that we have encountered have been the result of lack of clarity at this stage. One of our main aims is to make guest artistes feel welcome, valued and confident – but no shepherd's pie or champagne ... sorry.

5. Folk Club PA Spec

We can provide an excellent and well-maintained system, manned by Brian and/or Alan (alan@amroth350.wanadoo.co.uk) – or by your soundperson if that is preferable:-

- 1) Spirit Folio mixing desk – 8 balanced and 2 stereo unbalanced inputs.
- 2) Yamaha stereo digital reverb
- 3) Peavey CS200X 100W/side stereo amplifier
- 4) Celestion Bose-clone speakers with powered controller
- 5) 4xBeyer dynamic vocal/instrument mikes (as good as SM58s, we say)
- 6) 2xEV dynamic vocal/instrument mikes (ditto)
- 7) 2x dynamic Spirit instrument mikes
- 8) 1xShure SM81 condenser instrument mike
- 9) 4xDI boxes+cables
- 10) Stage box and multi-core cable.
- 11) Laney powered monitor speaker and passive extension speaker (i.e. 1 monitor mix, 2 stage monitors)
- 12) CD player for incidental music
- 13) 8 mike stands and all leads after the DIs (we have jack leads, but most artistes provide their own).

Our experience is that, in our up-to-150-seater venue, the stage monitors are rarely desirable. As we also know our PA system inside out, most artistes are happy to leave us to run it to their requirements and we enjoy working with guests to achieve a good sound. Lighting in the venue is simple, hotel-function-room style. For a bigger gig we can hire the Town Hall, with full stage lighting. More extensive PA and staging requirements must be negotiated at the booking stage and generally have cost implications.

6. Publicity

We expect artistes to provide a good-quality image (ideally electronically or on a Web page) and some biographical details. We print high-quality posters and fliers from this. We also promote the gig directly on our Web page (www.penicuikfolk.org.uk) and via an extensive email list and electronic press contact list.

7. Accommodation

The Craigiefield has comfortable accommodation for guests who wish to stay there at their own expense but we are happy to arrange free accommodation, given sufficient warning ... this is almost never a problem. Such accommodation will be on real beds in secure, comfortable and welcoming homes, with a post-gig dram or cup of tea available as appropriate!
